

Types of Shops		Then	Now	Interesting Photographs
butchers	A shop that cuts up and sells meat.
bakers	A shop that makes and sells bread and cakes.
greengrocers	A shop that sells fruit and vegetables.
fishmongers	A shop that sells raw fish and seafood.
supermarket	A large self-service shop selling foods and household goods.
Subject Specific Vocabulary
past	A period of time which has already happened.
present	The period of time that is happening now.
old	Something which has existed for many years.
new	Something which has recently come into existence.

Key Knowledge

By the end of this unit, I will know...

- Most food shopping was done everyday and from local shops e.g. bakers, butchers, greengrocers, fishmongers.
- The 'weekly shop' in large supermarkets was established as more women worked and shopping was done at the weekend.
- Computers have led to the development of online shopping as well as changing the way that we pay for things.

